

Terms & conditions

LaunchLite Studio · Website design & development services · Version date: _____

Parties. These terms apply between LaunchLite Studio (“we”, “us”, “LaunchLite”) and the client named in the proposal or invoice (“you”, “client”).

Important: This is a practical template for small engagements—not tailored legal advice. Have it reviewed by a qualified lawyer before relying on it, especially for high-value or regulated industries.

1. Services

We will deliver the services described in your signed proposal, statement of work, or written confirmation (together, the “scope”). Anything outside the scope is a variation and may require additional fees and timeline.

2. Client responsibilities

- Provide accurate information, timely feedback, and approvals within agreed windows.
- Supply content (copy, images, logos) in usable formats, or arrange copywriting separately if agreed.
- Maintain access credentials for domains, hosting, and third-party tools needed for delivery.
- Ensure you have rights to any materials you supply.

3. Fees & payment

- Fees are in AUD unless stated otherwise.
- Tax invoices will comply with Australian tax invoice requirements where GST applies.
- Unless otherwise agreed, work starts after acceptance of the proposal and receipt of any deposit.
- Late payment may suspend work and incur statutory interest or recovery costs where permitted by law.

4. Intellectual property

- Your materials. You retain ownership of content you provide; you license us to use it to deliver the project.
- Deliverables. Upon full payment of fees for the relevant milestone or project, we grant you a licence to use the agreed website/output for your business purposes, excluding third-party components governed by their own licences.
- Our tools & know-how. Pre-existing tools, frameworks, and processes remain ours; you receive the agreed site/output, not our underlying proprietary libraries unless expressly stated.

5. Revisions & acceptance

Design and build include the number of revision rounds stated in the proposal. Extra rounds or scope changes may be quoted separately. The site is accepted when you confirm in writing or sign off on staging, unless we agree a different test period.

6. Hosting, domains & third parties

Unless included in writing, hosting, domain renewal, SSL, email, and SaaS fees are your responsibility. We may assist with setup; ongoing billing sits with you or the nominated provider.

7. Warranty & liability

- We warrant that services will be performed with reasonable care and skill.
- To the maximum extent permitted by Australian Consumer Law and other applicable law, our aggregate liability for any claim arising from these terms is limited to the fees paid by you for the specific deliverable giving rise to the claim (except where limitation is prohibited).
- We are not liable for indirect or consequential loss, loss of profit, or data loss beyond reasonable backup recommendations.

8. Confidentiality

Each party will keep confidential information disclosed during the project and use it only for delivering or receiving the services, subject to usual exceptions (lawful disclosure, professional advisers, etc.).

9. Termination

- Either party may terminate for material breach if the breach is not remedied within 14 days of written notice (or shorter period if urgent).
- On termination, you pay for work completed to date and expenses reasonably incurred; we deliver materials produced up to that point as agreed.

10. Disputes

Parties will attempt to resolve disputes in good faith through direct discussion. If unresolved, disputes may be referred to mediation before litigation where practical.

11. Governing law

These terms are governed by the laws of Australia and the State or Territory agreed in writing (default: [insert state]). Courts of that jurisdiction have non-exclusive jurisdiction.
